

JONES PUT OVER 60 PCT. DIVIDEND ON EVE OF CRASH

"Thirty's" Whoop-It-Up
Sales Talk Induced Stockholders to Vote It, but It Didn't Mean a Thing.

SAID COMPANY HAD $252,000 SURPLUS

Walter Schulz, Ex-Vice-President of Laundry
Supply Firm, Adds
Chapter to Fraud Story.

Stockholders of the defunct David Jones Co. laundry machine manufacturers, voted themselves a 60 per cent cash dividend last Dec.
23 at the express suggestion of "Purty" Jones himself, who told them the $400,000 company had a cash surplus of $252,000. But it did not mean anything.

"Purty" made a whoop-it-up sales talk, announced plans to "pay out $400,000 worth of stock to my shareholders who have been waiting for me to let them buy some stock," and promptly forgot all about the dividend.

What happened to the surplus creditors now want to know.
It happened to the $252,000 surplus, if it really existed, where the dividend went, if it was paid. They desire to ask him if he distributed the cash surplus to preferred creditors in order of paying it to the stockholders.

There have been expressions of doubt as to whether Jones pulled a big check out of the wreckage just before the collapse and then put it safely away for his own use or gave it to importunate creditors who threatened him with laws unless he paid the surplus to them.

While the master salesman was telling the enthusiasm of his shareholders with rosy hopes, some checks were under protest to the banks; he was taking a 20 per cent discount to get his notes back, and was borrowing small sums from any friend who would lend him the money.

Tells of Cash Surplus.
Details of the dividend and cash surplus which stockholders expect never collected were related by a Post-Dispatch reporter today to Walter Schulz, president of the Hardware Co., 704 North Fourth street, and formerly vice-president of the David Jones Co.
Schulz still owns $10,000 in stock of the concern and has written it off as a total loss in the $252,000 surplus of "Purty" Jones' plan.

Schulz met Jones through his brother, Otto, who is secretary-manager of the Zelle Commission Co., 702 North Third street, and went to the Wirtz firm and on the first floor of the building, where he had his office. Otto Schulz was impressed with Jones and bought $1000 worth of stock in the David Jones Co., which had recently started at 1449 Natural avenue.

"I thought Jones had a good thing," Schulz said. "I bought $10,000 worth of stock. The next February he asked me to sell him as vice president. I told him I was going to do that, as I wanted to give him my time to the hardware company."

Thought Jones Was Straight.
"He explained that I need not have any time to the law that he would look after everything. Several of his associates had left him and he had a recommendation and he did not have the completion of officers required under the incorporation of Missouri. So I consented there was no time to be lost."

"I had nothing to do with the company, but from a surface examination I thought Jones was straight. His own activities gave me a good impression of good business. When he organized the David Jones Co. and his wife put in $100,000 worth of real estate Jones did not let the real estate concern-ment go. He had listed a piece of land on Washington avenue at $100,000 and had a $50,000 note on it. The company turned these assets to the David Jones Co. and David Jones Co. still owes $100,000 to be subsidiary concern.
Jones May Be Biggest Loser.
Besides this Jones had submitted $222,000 of the capital of $400,000. I understood he put up the cash for this part. In other words, he told me he had paid for millions of dollars of his own money on Page 2, Column 2.

Motor Truck Fleet Takes VARE VOTES TO WASHINGTON

Day and Night Guard Will Watch Ballots and Poll Books for Months.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Ballots and records of Philadelphia city and county used in Pennsylvania's controversial senatorial election last November arrived here early today in a fleet of motor trucks and were stored in the Senate office building.

The 2000 ballot boxes and 2000 original registration books were placed in special rooms with special locks and will be guarded night and day until the Senate campaign funds committee orders their examination.

Counting the ballots and checking the registration books is likely to occupy a large force of clerks during the greater part of the spring and summer. While this work is under way, the committee will begin its investigation of the charges of widespread fraud in voting and registration made by William B. Wilson, Democrat, in his contest for the Senate seat to which William S. Vare, Republican, was elected on the face of the returns.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 20.—L. D. (Doc) Redmond, mentioned by a witness yesterday in the trial of the Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Fort Worth, for the murder of D. E. Chippis, last July 17, as having been with Chippis when he went to Norris' office, took the stand today and explained that he was merely performing the friendly service of guiding Chippis, who had inquired of him where Norris could be found.

Redmond, 21 years old, formerly a theological student at Fort Worth Baptist seminary, said he was on his way to the office of the Searchlight, Norris' church paper, to get a Bible that he had left in front of the church and stopped up on the sidewalk he was accosted by a large man who came hurrying along.

"Can you tell me where Norris is?" Redmond asked.

The man, who Redmond said he did not know, told him Norris' office was in the Searchlight building.

$500,000 NECKLACE IS TOKEN OF PEACE OF THE STILLMANS

Son Makes Known Banker's Jeweled Offering to His Once Estranged Wife.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—James A. Stillman, as an expression of his reawakened love for his wife and their reconciliation, has presented to Mrs. Stillman a necklace worth more than $500,000, says the New York American in a copyrighted story. The gift was disclosed, the story says, by James (Bud) Stillman, a senior at Princeton.

The necklace, of collar design, 14 inches wide, is made of pearls, rubies, sapphires and diamonds, pearls predominating. The pearls are held together in strands and interlinked with diamonds, while in between are further chains of rubies and sapphires.

Young Stillman also said that his marriage to Lena Viola Wilson, backwoods Canadian girl, would take place June 23 at La Touque, Quebec, near the Stillman hunting lodge where the pair first met.

Meanwhile Lena remains a guest at the Stillman Park avenue home, where she is studying English, mathematics, history, science, music and drawing under two private tutors. It is her own idea, the story says, that she should go to school again, her father said.

Young Stillman is going to be a doctor. Present plans are that after the wedding and a honeymoon in Europe, he will participate at the University of Edinburgh, where he is studying medicine.

COOLIDGE WELCOMES NEW
ENVOY FROM NICARAGUA

Tells His U. S. Has "No Imperialistic Designs" or Selfish Motives.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Assurances that the Washington government has no selfish ends or imperialistic designs to "serve" in Nicaragua were given by President Coolidge today to Dr. Alejandro Gaitan, newly arrived from Nicaragua who presented the credentials of the White House.

"I take this opportunity of expressing the earnest hope that such internal dissensions will be quickly settled so that no obstacle may bar the way to progress toward a new era of permanent peace and prosperity for Nicaragua," the President said.

Although American troops have with the consent and at the request of your Government been landed in order to safeguard the legitimate interests of the United States and the lives and property of its citizens, this state of affairs should not continue longer than is necessary.

"The United States, as I know your Government and the people of your country, the United States desires the independence and the prosperity of every Central American republic."

Beck has continued under bond since his conviction. Judge Davis having deferred sentence in order that Beck's attorneys might prepare motions for a new trial and appeal of conviction, as they announced they would do. The maximum sentence which can be imposed is five years in the penitentiary and a $1000 fine on each of the counts. The penalty for each count is discretionary with the court.

Leading Baby Specialists urge this preventive

"Every baby should get cod-liver oil" is the advice of leading baby specialists and other health workers.

Not as a medicine—not as a tonic—but as the only food that contains in abundance the important factor—Vitamin D—without which bones soften and teeth develop imperfectly.

As a preventive measure it is urged even for the healthiest-looking baby, for the breast-fed as well as the bottle baby.

Older children also gain weight and are sick less often when they get good cod-liver oil. It builds up resistance to disease.

There is such a variation in the effectiveness of cod-liver oils that it is important to choose one that is known to be trustworthy.

Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is prepared by improved methods. Its content of health-promoting vitamins is tested, preserved and guaranteed. You can depend on its proved superior effectiveness—you can be sure it is rich in the health-factors you seek.

Ray of 3449 Notting ham avenue.

Kost and Ray were charged with criminal carelessness. They did not testify.

Police, in their investigation, learned that a Market street car, operated by Ray, had passed about 5 a. m. The car was found to have blood stains on the fender. Ray said he had observed what he thought was a sick in the street. He said he got out and looked at the object, saw that it was clear of the car, and then continued his run.

A verdict of criminal carelessness was returned against Ray Tuesday morning. Tuesday night Chief of Police Gerk, acting on anonymous information, arrested Kost and seized his touring car, which had a bent fender and broken headlight. Kost confessed according to the police, that he struck a man in the 4500 block of Chouteau avenue while driving to work at 6 a. m. Monday, but did not stop because he was late for work, and thought the man was not seriously injured.

Mrs. Clara Hinderbrand, 4321 Chouteau avenue, testified she was awakened about 5 a. m. Monday by a man in the street near her home, shouting, "Hey there!" Then she heard an automobile pass by.

NEW FILES FOR RE-ELECTION

TO HEAD ALDERMANIC BOARD

Has Held Position Four Years and There Is Little Talk of His Being Opposed.

Walter J. G. Noun, (Rep.) today filed his candidacy to succeed himself as president of the Board of Aldermen in a position he has held four years. He formerly was chairman of the Republican City Committee and was a circuit judge for a short time. So far the only talk of an opponent has been that Charles Hertenstein, former chairman of the Efficiency Board, might run against him.

This office is to be filled and Aldermen from the 14 even-numbered wards elected this spring. The primary will be in March and the election in April. The last day for filing will be Feb. 28. Noun is the second person to file. Alderman Randall of the Second Ward, seeking re-election, having been first, on Tuesday.

VOTE DELAYED BY CHARGE

OF 'FORGED PROPAGANDA'

Pamphlet Which William Hirth Denies Writing Causes Delay on Stockyards Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—After the charge had been made that "forged propaganda" had been circulated among the stockyard workers by the Capper-Tincher bill to regulate private stockyards, the House Agriculture Committee today postponed a vote on the measure.

The propaganda charge was by Representative Williams (Rep.) of Illinois and Representative Tincher (Rep.) of Kansas, co-author of the bill, asked that the vote go over so that the committee could investigate.

Williams said committee members were circulated with a pamphlet called "The story of the Capper-Tincher bill," purported to have been written by William Hirth, Missouri farm leader, but that Hirth had denied he had anything to do with it. Tincher declared it was unfair to vote after such serious charges had been made, and asked postponement until Feb. 7.

MARX CABINET PLAN FAILS

Von Hindenburg Asks Him to Accept New Coalition.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—Unsuccessful in his attempt to form a coalition cabinet of the middle parties, Chancellor Marx was requested by President von Hindenburg today to attend the organization of a Cabinet including the Middle and Right.

The President, exasperated by party squabbling, insisted upon the speedy formation of a Cabinet commanding a majority in the Reichstag. In a letter to Chancellor Marx, he said the foreign and domestic situation made a strong Government imperative. Such a Government was possible only with the co-operation of the Conservative parties to whom he appealed to forget their petty differences and work in the interest of the Fatherland for the welfare of the whole people on the basis of the Republican Constitution.

Stolen 430-Pound Safe Found. A small safe, empty and weighing about 450 pounds, was found yesterday afternoon embedded in the ice on a slender path near the pavilion at Creve Coeur Lake Park. The combination had been knocked off. A serial number identified it as the property of the Piggly Wiggly Co. It is believed the safe was stolen Jan. 8, along with $275, from a Piggly Wiggly store on Woodson road near Creve Coeur street car line.

SMOKE COMMISSIONER REPORTS IMPROVEMENT

Hopes for Clear Skies in Two Years at Present Rate of Progress.

Considerable improvement in the smoke situation in St. Louis may be expected in the next two years as shown by the report of the Smoke Commission, which was issued today in the report for 1926 to the Director of Public Safety, Bond.

There were 438 cases of excessive smoke reported in 1926, 195 in 1925, and 107 in 1924. The commission, which is made up of representatives of the city, the state, and the federal government, has been working for several years to improve the smoke situation. It has issued orders to many factories and has been successful in securing the removal of many of the worst offenders.

There was a 50 percent reduction in the number of cases of excessive smoke reported in 1926, compared with 1925. This was due to the fact that the commission has been successful in securing the removal of many of the worst offenders. It has also been successful in securing the removal of many of the worst offenders.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff
There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This does not mean to wash it off. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, or clear liquid, and apply it at night when retiring, and rub it gently into the scalp. It will be gone by morning. If not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, so matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be soft, glossy, and feel a hundred times better. You will not need any more of those expensive dandruff powders, or shampoos, or lotions, or anything else. This simple remedy never fails.

EARLY DIAGNOSIS OF CANCER ESSENTIAL

Experts Continue Lectures on Inroads of Disease and Care That Is Needed.

"Everyone must be sober of body, but to intelligent person would prefer to die of cancer," Dr. A. G. Pohlman said in his public address at the cancer prevention meeting, held last night in the St. Louis Medical Society auditorium, 3323 Lindell boulevard.
Dr. Pohlman, professor of anatomy in St. Louis University Medical School, was the first speaker in the local campaign of enlightenment on this subject. Tonight, in the same auditorium, Dr. V. P.
Blair, associate professor of surgery in Washington University Medical School, will speak on the same theme. The public is invited.

Most Serious Menace.
"Unrecognized offenders" constitute the most serious menace to the human body, as they do to the community, Dr. Pohlman said.
"The cancer cell is a body cell which does not follow the rules of growth and differentiation. It is not recognized as an offender by the surrounding tissues. It does not call forth a defense reaction. Rather, the tissue cells may even adapt themselves to the increasing demands for food and space by these off-colored elements. Thus, the cancerous mass continues to grow and to invade the very channels of nutrition.
Hence the name cancer, Latin for growth, implying an abnormal mass—adversary to the surrounding tissues by reason of its active invasion. Finally, this mass of cells whose excesses cannot be known or normal functions break down or grow into the blood and lymph channels, and disseminate the invasion."

Personal Defense Necessary.
"Inasmuch as the tissues of the body do not put up a defense against cancerous invasion, the individual himself must appreciate the menace of this growth and must defend himself against that which will otherwise kill him.
Prevention of disease demands a willing and intelligent co-operation between the public and those concerned with the public health.
The situation calls for the education of the people, that they may recognize the importance of a condition which, while it concerns them and may assume some personal responsibilities in the matter, is not a matter of personal concern. Ignorant people may be intelligently led. It is misinformation, irresponsibility and indifference which has introduced to this country the lead to health and happiness."

Early Diagnosis Urged.
"Prevention of disease may not be a simple matter even when the actual causes are thoroughly understood. It is these the prominence of these causes. Direct prevention of disease is not possible, when the cause is not understood. We do not know the cause of cancer, but even when the cause has been absolutely determined, we may even today find the only successful way of combating the disease, then as now, is early recognition and prompt treatment."

There is no disposition to frighten people into the doctor's office. It is, however, desirable in the face of this danger that individuals, who surely know themselves outside with those in whom they have confidence. All suspicious symptoms and all suspicious areas must be watched and diagnosed before the disease has progressed to the point where its complete destruction or complete removal is impossible."

SACASA WELCOMES AID FROM U. S., NOT TUTELAGE

Liberal Leader Says Nicaragua Has "Commercial Preference Toward U. S."
—Denies Mexican Deal.

CONFIDENT OF LIBERAL VICTORY

Declares United States by "Dollar Policy" Has Injured Itself More Than Competitors Could.

By the Associated Press.
PUERTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua,
Jan. 20.—Dr. Juan Bautista Sacasa, Liberal President, told a staff correspondent for the Associated Press in an interview yesterday that Nicaragua needs and desires "a friendly and just alliance with the co-operation of the United States," but cannot agree to "tutelage," with injury to her dignity and sovereignty.

The Liberal chief, whose government, recognized by Mexico, is opposing the Diaz Conservative regime at Managua which has American recognition, expressed confidence of being able to carry his fight to a successful conclusion.
He also denied that the Liberals have a pact with Mexico or have received military aid from the Mexican Government.

"Together with my cabinet," he said, "I am in perfect accord that the United States offers Nicaragua and the other Latin-American nations greater commercial advantages than Mexico or any other nation."

"We wish a frank and dignified understanding between Nicaragua and the United States—an understanding between the greater commercial and financial interests of two neighborly entities."

"We do not wish offenses which open the protest of defending American capital are committed against our country, flagrantly disregarding our weakness, rights and dignity."

"The financial policy—let's call it the dollar policy—which has been perfectly defined in the recent political technique of the United States has occasioned for the United States a greater competitor than ever could. The United States has unreasonably made herself feared instead of being a protective promise."

"In short, we cannot without discussion a commercial preference toward the United States, and declare and give friendship to all the nations of the world, but the charge of tutelage, with injury to our dignity and sovereignty, we concede to none."

"Nicaragua, and the other Latin-American countries which require the assistance of foreign capital need a friendly and just alliance with the co-operation of the United States."

Sacasa Rejects Peace Proposals of Diaz.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 20.—
The proposals for peace advanced by General Adolfo Diaz, head of the Conservative Nicaraguan regime, have been refused by Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, president of the Liberal regime at Puerto Cabezas. It is announced here.

General Diaz proposed a conference with the object of making peace on the basis of Liberal participation in the Government. Liberal representation on the bench of the supreme court election without contest of Liberal Congressmen in two departments, and free elections in 1938. Diaz would remain president until then.

Disputes through conservative sources say a detachment of Diaz cavalry defeated Liberal forces at El Pora and Telica, in Northwestern Nicaragua.

olfo Diaz, accredited by Presi-the late afternoon.

Cesar has been in Washington more than a week and has been received by Secretary Kellogg. Acceptance of his credentials by President Coolidge will make Cesar the first diplomatic representative of the Diaz Government to this country.

transcript of Secretary Kellogg's statement last week on the Nicaraguan situation was deferred today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

REED, IN NEW YORK SPEECH, COMPARES TAX GATHERERS AND SPIES "TO LICE OF EGYPT"

Declares Government Agents Devour Substance of People, Pry Into Private Affairs, and Poison Alcohol.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Pleading for elimination of "hordes of officials, tax gatherers, snoopers and spies," who "swarm over the land like the lice of Egypt, devouring the substance of the people," Senator Reed (Dem., N. Y.) of Missouri, last night advocated a reversion to the constitutional principles of federated government and the re-establishment of human liberty as the only way to political activity.

Speaking before the annual convention of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' Association, the Senator summarized his political philosophy, pointed to a score of problems pressing for disposition and presented a statement of the principles which he believed should control in consideration of the more far-reaching issues.

The Senator's declarations took on added interest among his hearers because he frequently has been mentioned as a possible contender for the presidential nomination.

Avoid Old World Intrigue.
Declaring the time had come when American statesmen must begin to think of an American policy, Reed said that policy "should first of all keep us free from intrigues, ambitions, hatreds and wars of the old world."

"Avoiding a militaristic policy," he continued, "we should none the less maintain a navy capable of defending our commerce on the seas and protecting our shores from attack. We should by wise policies extend our trade to every part of the world, thus providing employment for our labor and capital."

"Instead of interfering with the domestic life of the people, we should encourage and in proper cases assist in the development of our own resources. Our great harbors should be completed, desert states turned into fruitful farms."

"It is not the crying need of the hour the disbandment of useless boards, the repeal of unnecessary laws, the return to the states of their natural and just authority, to the end that we may bring the Federal Government back to its original simplicity."

Surrender Dominion of Seas.
Senator Reed reiterated his hostility to the "age of Nations and the World Court" and declared that at the Washington arms conference the United States "surrendered the dominion of the seas then within our grasp."

"Today the American navy is justly crying for support," he said.
"and Congress is appropriating millions to build little ships to take the place of the big ships we destroyed."

"We could save part of this ex-

LIBERALS TAKE LLOYD GEORGE GIFT AND DUST ASQUITH MEN

Party Committee Ratifies Earlier Acceptance of Income From $1,500,000 Fund.
By Associated Press.
LONDON, Jan. 20.—Acceptance of former Premier Lloyd George's offer of £200,000 (about $1,500,- 000) fund for the next general election, in addition to £40,000 annually for headquarters and party purposes was reaffirmed yesterday by a majority vote of the Liberal Organizing Committee. Lloyd George's offer of the use of the income of his electoral fund, which was arranged after he left England on a holiday, was accepted originally by a vote of 19 to 14 on Dec.
18.

Lloyd George attended the meeting yesterday. He made it a condition that he retain control of the fund, but it is understood he is taking steps to secure it permanently for Liberal party purposes.

Vivian Phillip and other strong supporters of the Earl of Oxford and Asquith, representing the Asquithian faction, have been asked to resign from the committee.

GEN. WOOD WILL VISIT U. S.

General Leonard Wood, before departing again for the health resort of Baguio, to recuperate from his recent operation, formally announced that he would take a four months' leave of absence this spring.

"I have to see the President and

Gen. Wood said, "but I will be in the United States only two months.
It will take me a month to go and a month to return."

Law Forbidding Alien Own-

Tomorrow.

By Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—The first decision rendered by the Mexican courts under the new petroleum law was in favor of foreign oil companies.

The Fourth District Court has granted a 72-hour writ of Amparo to the El Aguila Oil Co., the Compania Unida de Petroleo and the Compania Bienes y Inversiones, which had filed injunction suits against the Department of Industry and Commerce and the Mexican executive.

The District Court ordered the Department of Industry to suspend all proceedings for 72 hours while the court investigates the case.

Tampico dispatches say that foreign oil companies are reducing their field operations pending developments.

Yaqui Ready to Surrender.
The rebellion of the Yaqui Indians in the State of Sonora is reported by the War Department to have entered its final phase, the Yaqui chiefs announcing a desire to surrender.

Gen. Amaro, Minister of War and Navy, upon receiving the news, conferred with President Calles, and the newspapers declared that the chief executive instructed him to accept unconditional surrender of the Yaqui Indians, appointing Gen. Manzo, military commandant of Sonora, to represent the Government on negotiations.

Once the Yaqui movement is completely subdued, the War Department says, the troops now in Sonora will be moved to other parts of the country where the so-called "Catholic rebels" are active.

Alien Ownership Law of Mexico Effective Tomorrow.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Mexican law which provides that no "alien shall acquire direct ownership" within fifty kilometers (about 30 miles) of the Mexican coast and 100 kilometers of the border, will go into effect tomorrow, it was learned today at the Mexican Embassy. It is distinct from Mexican land laws which became effective Jan. 1.

The law stipulates that a foreigner participating in a Mexican company acquiring ownership within the restricted zones must not involve the protection of his government. Foreigners owning property prior to the promulgation of the law on January 21, 1926, however, are permitted to retain it until death or in the case of corporations, for five years.

Foreigners who acquired rights prior to last Jan. 21, are required to make a declaration before the Mexican Department of Foreign Affairs within a year. The law provides that the failure to do so will be considered as having acquired the property subsequent to its promulgation.

The Embassy denied a recent dispatch from Tampico that the Mexican government had granted concessions to third parties on lands owned by the Sinclair Petroleum Corporation, due to its failure to comply before Jan. 1, with the provisions of the petroleum laws.

The Embassy said that the Department of Industry at Tampico had accepted an application of a person claiming the right of the Ancient Torres on lands decreed by the Supreme Court to belong to the estate. The Sinclair company, it added, owns oil wells on the lands but has accepted the right of expropriation as a provisional basis and without injury to the rights of the estate.

Mexico-U. S. Arbitration Pact.
Secretary Kellogg's recent reference to arbitration relations between the United States and Mexico has given rise to the observation that he undoubtedly had in mind the Root-Godoy treaty of 1905 providing for the settlement of disputes under certain circumstances to the Hague.

Examination of the treaty dis-closes, that resort to it is surrounded with special difficulties provides that no other means of arbitration upon which the Government can agree shall be deemed excluded under the treaty.

The treaty provides that after the two governments agree on the question to be submitted in the form of a "special agreement defining clearly the matter in dispute, the scope of the powers of the arbitrators," and the time within which each step in arbitration must be taken, such special agreement must be ratified by both the Mexican and American Senates before arbitration can proceed.

It also provides that the arbitration it contemplates shall take place only when "they do not affect the vital interests, the independence, or the honor of either of the contracting parties and do not impair the interests of a third party."

Although Kellogg announced that he has been giving consideration to the application of the principle of arbitration, it was made clear at the State Department that no move in that direction had been initiated by the Washington Government.

Kellogg's attitude toward arbitration was said to be one of willingness to have the advice of the Senate, but without commitment as to whether he would accept an offer of arbitration if made by Mexico.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 20.—The Belgian court has gone into 10 weeks of mourning for Carlotta, widow of Maximilian, once Emperor of Mexico, who died yesterday.

With a pearl rosary clasped in her hands, the body lies in state in the Chateau de Bouillon, not far from Brussels. Two black-robed monks of the house of the household kneel in continuous prayer beside the dead.

The residents of the village of Meyssie, near which the chateau is located, will be invited to the chateau on Friday to look upon the Empress for the last time. Once each year for many years they have had the privilege of visiting the castle.

Both houses of Parliament suspended their sittings yesterday as a mark of respect.

Saturday there will be an elaborate state funeral and Carlotta's body will be interred in the Belgian royal crypt at Laeken.

NORWEGIAN MINISTER TO AMERICA RECALLED

Helmer M. Bryn Disagrees
With His Government Over Pressing Claims Against U. S.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Helmer M. Bryn, Norwegian Minister here for more than 15 years, has been officially relieved of his duties, presumably because he could not agree with his Government as to the wisdom of pressing Norwegian shipping claims against the United States.

F. Herman Gade, once an American citizen, but now Norwegian Minister to Brazil, is considered a likely candidate for the post.
Bryn's son, Johannes Bryn, has applied for American citizenship, but Gade's son, Gerhard Gade, is secretary of the American Legation of Oslo, capital of Norway.

This peculiar diplomatic situation became known today when the Norwegian Legation formally announced the recall of Bryn. There was no announcement as to the reasons, but it has been known the Minister was unable to see the expediency in pressing certain of the Norwegian claims and Alexis H. G.
O. Lundh has been acting for some time as Minister.

Gade has been in Washington recently and curiously enough his credentials showed he was an accredited Envoy of Norway charged only with handling shipping subjects. Gade, a Norwegian, came to the United States many years ago and took out naturalization papers.
Later he returned to Norway and became an advisor to the King, from which post he entered the Norwegian diplomatic service. His son, Gerhard, born in Chicago and a Harvard graduate, won a place in the American diplomatic service by competitive examination several years ago.

Gade has been in Washington since 1910 and ranks second among Ministers accredited to the diplomatic corps here. He will present his recall to the White House at the President's convenience, but his future plans have not been announced.

BRITAIN DISPATCHES FORCES TO THE DEFENSE OF SHANGHAI

Battalion of Marines to Sail Saturday; Cruiser Squadron on Way From Malta.

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Publications, Inc., New York World

LONDON, Jan. 20.—A British expeditionary force to defend Shanghai is moving. A battalion of marines has been sent from Chatham to Portsmouth and will sail for China Saturday. The first cruiser squadron has sailed from Malta for Shanghai.

These movements are said to be the direct result of the intervention of the sea lords who insisted that precautionary measures be taken. The action seemed unnecessary to civilian Cabinet Ministers, but First Lord of the Admiralty, Brigadier-General, an ultramarine that unless a squadron was sent to China from the Mediterranean the sea lords would resign.

Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor Premier, in an interview declared the position in China is undoubtedly very serious and the least mistake on either side might at any moment begin a conflagration, the end of which nobody can predict.

The waiting principle of the Kuomintang is the gospel of the late Dr. Sun Yat-Sen. Sun's evangelism can be summarized as follows:
First, justice and fairness between nations; second, justice and fairness between individuals; third, a chance for every man to make a living.

Russia in Control.
The general opinion now is that the altruism and brotherly love of Sun Yat-Sen are exploited by others as camouflage for most intense hatred and as a tool of international rather than national politics. It is this deterioration of the Kuomintang that disarms the missionaries.

It is generally accepted that the Kuomintang has been compelled to surrender its propaganda department to the Russians in exchange for financial and other assistance. This surrender appears complete. The Russians are running the department absolutely and with amazing efficiency. In territory not yet taken by the Kuomintang, propaganda work under cover and preach the excellent principles of Sun Yat-Sen. But where the Kuomintang army has passed and the opposition is removed, the propaganda bureau throws off camouflage and openly spreading anti-foreign doctrine. Many Chinese agitators have been trained in Moscow for this purpose.

This is reason to believe that some of the more conscientious Kuomintang leaders are not sympathetic with the extremist propa-gandists, but are helpless in the face of the web. Even Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, youthful Kuomintang commander-in-chief, is credited with having given way against his will before Russian fanatics.

Bishop Wallace Brown of Syracuse, N. Y., who is stationed in Fochow, reports that the situation there is very serious. Cantonese mobs looted the Methodist institutional church, the Anglican church, the Young Men's Christian Association Building, the Chinese Methodist Hospital, the American Board Hospital and beat W. L. Board of

D. R. Francis' Public Service.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

PERHAPS the public may be interested in the following estimate of Mr. Francis' public service, written by one who was closely associated with him when he was secretary of the Interior. Under the law, in addition to his administrative duties, he had supervision over patents, pensions, public lands and parks, Indians and Indian agencies, and served as a court of appeal in all cases involving the private appropriation of many sorts of public property. When he assumed office, thousands of cases were pending, such as the Chicago lake front case, the conflict with Mexico over the appropriation by irrigation companies of the headwaters of the Rio Grande, the settlement of the Perrine claim with respect to hundreds of thousands of acres in Florida, the Northern Pacific Railroad land grant and all the cases arising out of the rush for lands opened to settlement in the present State of Oklahoma; and in addition to these manifold responsibilities, he had to decide many suits appealed from the Land Office involving conflicting claims to homesteaded, forest, mineral and Indian rights.

In the performance of these various duties he was indefatigable. He worked with amazing rapidity; he glanced, listened intently and decided instantly all cases submitted to him, and his judgment was always righteous in the sense that he intended to do justice and scrupulously obey the law. He sometimes delayed, but never hesitated. That he had faults, no candid friend will deny, yet those who saw him at work in the public service during the latter part of Mr. Cleveland's administration will incline rather to admiration than censure. He was a citizen of whom any city might be proud, and I cannot think that the foregoing brief account of the manner in which he performed his public duties will be uninteresting to his fellow citizens at this time.

Proposed County Fairgrounds.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I SINCERELY hope that the proposed racetrack and fairgrounds materialize in the county. It is something which has always been needed and ought, if handled in the right way, to be successful. But there is something wrong with the Missouri "blue sky" law. If the present plans are passed upon by the commission, there being $500,000 of preferred stock, the owners of which are non-voting stockholders, but $400,000 of common stock which carries the privilege of voting, it is possible for one person with a $200,000 investment to control capital aggregating nearly a million dollars. I doubt, whether or not, a plan will pay well enough for some time to justify the proposed expenditure. St. Louis is notoriously a poor city for sporting events and the semi-isolation of the location picks and again against it. Few people who went to the national air races at Lambert field will forget the traffic jams there after the races each day.

The Christmas Health Seal Campaign.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
WE GREATLY appreciate the splendid co-operation which we received from your newspaper during 1926. Our publicity files show that you supported our public health program last year in a most generous and commendable manner. This is the best endorsement we can ask for our work.

We are particularly grateful for the wonderful space which you devoted to our recent Christmas health seal campaign. To this co-operation we attribute much of the success of this year's sale. In grateful acknowledgment therefore, our board of directors met in special session yesterday and decided to extend their thanks and appreciation to you for assisting so generously in this big public health movement. Cordially yours,

Good Name for New Negro School.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

MY comment on the letter in your paper dated Jan. 16, signed Nicholas M. Bell.

I would like to say that it is very gratifying to know that at least one person in the white race realizes that if given a fair chance the Negro will make as good a citizen as other races do. I, for one, also agree with Mr. Bell in saying that there should be a movement dedicated to Charleston Tandy. We Negroes of Missouri should realize that if it hadn't been for Mr. Tandy we would have stood about as much chance for an education as a chicken has for teeth. I am sure we could give our benefactor a fitting memorial by naming the beautiful school they are building for the Negro children on Laclede avenue after him. Let us Negroes of St. Louis show our appreciation of the great gift Mr. Tandy gave us.

THE ISSUE IN THE SMITH CASE.

An unofficial poll of the Senate after yesterday's five-hour debate on the seating of Frank L. Smith of Illinois indicated that Smith would be refused a seat in the Senate by a vote of 46 to 23. The majority vote consisted of a combination of Democrats and insurgent Republicans.

Whatever the outcome of the vote in the Senate, Senator Reed of Missouri, in the course of his remarks opposing the seating of Smith, clearly defined the issue presented to the Senate. Senator Reed contended that the Constitution empowering each house to be "the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its members" embodied an unlimited grant of power to each house to protect itself. He said:

If the Senate does not guard its own portals and protect its own integrity then there is no power outside the Senate to protect that integrity. We have the power and we must so exercise it that all men will know that he who enters here must come with clean hands.

If that fact can be certified to the country and made to be known to all men, then at least senatorial elections will be to some extent kept pure. Wealth will no longer try to purchase seats of honor and of power in this body.

Mr. Smith was guilty of two offenses. One was the use of an enormous slush fund with which to purchase his nomination and election, and the other was the acceptance of a large campaign contribution from heads of public utilities, whose business he, as chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, regulated. It cannot be said that he came into the Senate with clean hands.

If the Senate does not reject men who have been guilty of purchasing their nominations and elections to the Senate, who have been guilty of official impropriety in obtaining nominations and elections, then the bars will be down to an influx of members who will be there solely by right of purchase. The money power would soon be in control of the Senate, and public confidence in its integrity and sound purposes would be forfeited.

Smith is merely an incident in the larger issue of the use of money to control the Government, and of the establishment of the money power and of special interests represented by that power in dominating the Government.

MR. TAFT'S RECOMMENDATION.

We do not understand how Chief Justice Taft can reconcile his belief that constitutional guarantees should be sacredly preserved with his recommendation that the powers of State Judges be vastly increased in the trial of criminal cases.

One of the constitutional guarantees is that an accused man may demand trial by jury. Trial by jury would suffer practical nullification if Judges were given the powers that Mr. Taft cites. He thinks the Judge should be allowed to instruct the jury freely, to give them "wise suggestions" as to how the evidence should be weighed, and that nothing in his instructions, even if he clearly favors the State at the expense of the defendant, should be made the basis of a reversal, providing he makes the jury understand that there is the ultimate responsibility.

The effect of all this would be to change the Judge from an impartial referee into an advocate whose prejudices, predilections and whims may have full expression in any case before him, and whose actions are not reviewable by a higher court. In other words, it would create a judicial tyranny which could be used to scrap constitutional guarantees. If not in letter, certainly in spirit.

We are all disturbed about the crime wave, but it is folly, in attempting to curb it, to create a Frankenstein which will remain to plague us all. The pages of history run red with the gore of those who have come in contact with judicial tyrants, and the fear of them is instinctive in our veins. Mr. Taft speaks of "legislative distrust of the Judge and his power," which is manifest in the "laws that hamper him." It is a distrust well founded.

State Judges are elective officers subject to the demands of the political game. Many of them are worse than they should be. Who wants to intrust his life or his liberty to a single individual who is often not even a good lawyer, to an autocrat whose word is final to the extent that his instructions may not be reviewed?

We do not think it would be possible to safeguard a man's sacred rights if Mr. Taft's recommendations were put into effect. We think the two ideas are irreconcilable, and that to give the Judge tyrannical power would be to substitute a worse evil for the evil it is designed to cure.

THE GOVERNOR WANTS A RAISE.

Gov. Baker wants more pay. His salary as set by law is $5000.

In the business world good executives would laugh at an offer of a salary of $5000. Good executives can get all the jobs they want at $10,000. Outstanding executives pull down pay checks in six figures. The $25,000 man is common.

Theoretically, we approve the idea of increasing the pay of the Governor. Surely, $5000 is a miserably small sum to give the chief executive of a great State, but one way to remedy the condition is for the Governor to prove himself what in business would be considered a $25,000 man. Then perhaps the State would double or even triple his salary.

The main reason for the low salaries of Governors throughout the country is that most of the occupants of gubernatorial chairs have not been worth a cent more. Low salaries are only a symbol of the decline of gubernatorial prestige.

If Charlie Chaplin could not give his wife enough money to keep her quiet, heaven help the rest of us.

HER LADYSHIP.

A haughty imperious creature. Proud of her beauty, conscious of her power, accepting laudation and devotion as her divine right. Her hideous infamy, incorrigible childhood, ugly duckling awkwardness are forgotten as completely as the shimmering butterfly is oblivious of its caterpillar origin. But pride goes before a fall. When January coats the pavement and, in his painting mood, polishes the slippery treachery with a veneer of sleet, her ladyship's hauteur vanishes. Gratefully she accepts the blighted assistance of rancorous devices. Humiliated and fearful, she moves timidly, with slow, uncertain step. She is just a weak woman again, the arrogant, gorgeous motor car when the ice is on the asphalt and the chain is on the tire.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Evolution of the Monroe Doctrine from a device for our own defense against imperialistic neighbors into an obligation that works both ways may be said by this time to be complete.

Our occupation of Nicaragua, defenses of it made by the administration, and the sanction given it by both parties in congressional debate, have effectively defined this celebrated international policy in its new form. Senator Reed of Missouri puts it clearly enough:

We have as a nation a very great responsibility. We have said, under the Monroe Doctrine, that no foreign Government shall establish itself upon this hemisphere, and while it is not written in the Monroe Doctrine in words, as we have construed that doctrine, we in effect want other nations, that is, the nations of the Eastern Hemisphere, that they must not undertake the conquest of nations on this side of the ocean.

If we assert that doctrine, a certain responsibility flows from it. Other nations have interests in those countries and have a right to protect those interests if we do not see to it that some protection is afforded to them. And so the responsibility falls upon us; and if we do not accept that responsibility and other nations call upon the United States to preserve their property and protect their rights by keeping some kind of a civilized government in existence, those nations will proceed to protect their own interests; and when they do a war may come that will be a real war, a war that will tax every resource of our people.

We have, therefore, a difficult and delicate task, one which requires negotiations and frequently great patience.

To deny that would be like denying that man has evolved from another estate, which fewer people every day care to do. Therefore, what we have to consider is how we can apply the doctrine with the greatest happiness to ourselves and the Latin-Americans.

Upon this score there is by this time such a volume of popular testimony that there can no longer be any doubt whatever as to what we must do. Both Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Kellogg have been brought up with a round turn by this thunderous expression of public opinion. It is without a parallel in history.

The Post-Dispatch has not quarreled with our obligation in Nicaragua. It has protested that in assuming it we left the people of Nicaragua out of any consideration whatsoever. We ditched their Government and established our own. We made no attempt to co-operate with them. We brutally thrust our great guns under their noses and told them what we expected them to do.

It seems that now the Monroe Doctrine has been defined by both the administration and Congress, with complete agreement between them that this is precisely what it has come to. We ought now to define our obligation.

We are not obligated to any foreign country to treat the Latin-Americans except as equals. We are treating them in Nicaragua as inferiors. We are regarding their rights and wishes. We are occupying their country with our armed forces.

Our obligation to ourselves and everybody else is to use force last. Our tendency is to use it first.

President Diaz of Nicaragua has also entered our humor contest. He proposes to compromise the quarrel with the liberals by retaining the presidency and giving Sacasa something like Charlie Dawes has.

VIVE LA POULE!

What will the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals say when they hear the story from France that hens fed on a wine diet laid better and bigger eggs and a lot more of them than a similar number of cold water birds? They will probably thrust it aside with scorn. But if they do, Dr. Pearl of Johns Hopkins will tell them a story of alcohol and chickens that ought to convince them of the magic in the bottle. And what will our good Methodist brothers think when we solemnly assure them that if those French pullets had been given bourbon whisky instead of insipid vin ordinaire they would have laid great big beautiful egg-nogs.

We have passed in the news from Purity Jones to Impurity Smith.

KANSAS POINTS THE WAY.

If the name of Kansas suggests anything at all, it is certainly not humor. Indeed, the very fact that the State is associated in the popular mind with all sorts of reform movements, from prohibition to populism, and from antislavery crusades to anticigarette legislation, proves that it has never displayed that quality to a marked degree, for the outstanding characteristic of every successful reformer appears to be a total lack of humor.

Now, however, the State is in a fair way to make up for this deficiency. In an attempt to bring about repeal of the foolish and unenforceable anticigarette law a State Senator has introduced a bill to prohibit the sale, giving away or eating of mince pies. "Mince pie," says the author of this novel measure, "is as injurious to health as is the cigarette, and it is as much the State's duty to control one as the other."

We hail the Senator as the originator of a most promising method of eradication of the present epidemic of sumptuary legislation. He has attacked it in its Achilles heel, and with the poisonous arrow of irony. If anything on earth will prove fatal to this disease, it is just this variety of weapon. The Kansas legislator is to be commended for making a practical test of Mark Twain's theory that one of the most effective tools against fanaticism and bigotry is ironical laughter.

Frank L. Smith is beginning to understand what the battle of the Marne was like.

REED WILL TAKE CARE OF IT.

Senator Reed of Missouri says that while he is upholding the hands of President Coolidge in Latin America, he intends to criticize him if his policy becomes pusillanimous or lacks earnestness.

This reminds us of the man who said to St. Peter when he got to heaven: "Now we are going to have a real celestial chorus. Get me 50,000 sopranos, 50,000 tenors and 50,000 altos."

"Don't you want any basses?" asked St. Peter. "No," said the newcomer, "I'll sing bass."

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

POLITICAL PARTY SYMBOLS.

From the Pathfinder.

WHY is the Republican party represented by the elephant, and the Democratic by the mule? Both of these symbols were originated by Thomas Nast, the famous cartoonist. It is said that he got his idea from an article in the New York Herald which described the escape of some animals from the zoo. On Nov. 2, 1854, he published a cartoon in Harper's Weekly in which he used an elephant to represent the Republican party, that animal being regarded as the symbol of strength and capacity to bear burdens. A few weeks later he published an unfriendly cartoon in the same magazine depicting the Democratic party as a donkey, that animal being regarded as the symbol of stupidity. The Republicans claim that the symbol of the Democratic party is the mule, which has neither pride of ancestry nor prospect of posterity. The Democrats say it is the donkey, which besides being profligate, had the honor of bearing Jesus triumphantly into Jerusalem.

A CAGELESS BANK.

From the Cincinnati Times-Star.

A WASHINGTON bank has cageless counters in its new building. The result is a banking room that is a thing of beauty, even if it may not prove a job forger. For there are bankers who believe that the experiment is not an adaptation to the spirit of our times, when bank robberies from without occur with disturbing frequency. But the cageless counters are an interesting experiment. It does away with the appearance of a banking room, of course, the purpose of the zoo cages is to keep animals in, while the purpose of bank cages is to keep out animals of which there is an all too numerous species. But when you face a bank cage, you have an almost 200 attitude toward its occupant. His name is before you on a metal placard, and almost intuitively you look for his Latin counterpart. Perhaps you would not be unduly surprised if you should encounter the information that the occupant is of the genus homo.

REGULATION OF BUS LINES.

From the St. Joseph News-Press.

THE Legislature is preparing to give serious attention to state regulation of motor bus and truck, operated as common carriers. It is admitted that such regulation is necessary, but a question has arisen as to the proper regulatory agency—whether the Legislature itself, the State Public Service Commission, or the State Highway Commission. Missouri, in common with other states, long ago decided on regulation of commercial carriers along with other utility services as necessary to protect the public interest. This supervision includes authority to regulate capitalization and to fix rates, which is equivalent to determining the rate of income. So long as the utilities retain a distinctly monopolistic character, the task, while never easy, can be performed in the light of fairly well established precedents. Where competition enters in a new form and on an extensive scale—as where bus and truck compete with steam and electric lines—the problem of regulation becomes doubly intricate. Two years ago the Legislature undertook to enact a code regulatory of bus and truck, but

CONGESTION AND TRANSPORTATION.

From the New Republic.

HOW city congestion grows is well illustrated by what is happening in New York. The metropolitan subway system of which are crowded with passengers is spreading many millions of dollars on a new tunnel running the length of the island. Now comes the news that a skyscraper 110 stories in height is to be erected on Forty-second street, at one of the stations on the new line. This building will be 123 feet in height, the tallest structure in the world. It will be 304 feet taller than the 60-story Woolworth Building, and 100 feet taller than the new 55-story Bank Tower in Detroit, and it will have an estimated population of 20,000. We leave it to the experts to say whether such a building is technically possible, or could be made to pay if it were built. Assuming (which we doubt) that it can and will be constructed, we are interested to consider that its 20,000 workers mean 50,000 rides each day on transit facilities of some sort, and visitors to the offices mean at least 50,000 more. It is probable that a majority of these 100,000 riders will use the new subway. It will not take many skyscrapers to crowd this line as badly as its predecessors, and under New York's laissez-faire policy it is certain that they will be built—if not 110-story ones, then larger numbers of others not so high. Already a new real estate development is springing up along the line of the not-yet-completed tube. In the center of the city it consists of office buildings, and further out there are apartment houses. It is a safe prediction that the new subway will not relieve congestion. On the contrary, new subways and new buildings are the Siamese twins which produce it. How many years will it take for the municipal authorities to discover this great truth, and bend their efforts along entirely different lines?

A WINTER'S DAY.

Texas cold, Texas cold, Texas bitterly cold. And the sky was a leaden gray. A dull sun hung in the sombre sky. But it gave little warmth that day.

The smoke came down from the chimneys.

And clung to the ground below. There was no wind, there was no sun. But only cold and snow.

And soon the snow was covered with the smoke made the traffic almost impossible. I was told of winters more severe in the days of long ago.

Lashing Your Eyes this may be you WISH! When you see a teamster brutally lashing his willing horse, you protest against such wanton cruelty.

BUT—what if you were unmercifully lashing your own willing eyes?

WITHOUT knowing it, you may be doing that very thing. True, you feel no discomfort. But—unconsciously the eyes are overtaxed and goaded into seeing well. It's like whipping a tired horse until he manages to pull the too heavy load.

DR. NEWTON TELLS HOW WORDS DIFFER

Pictures Embarrassment and Then Joy When British Misunderstood Meaning

"This is the homeliest company of people I ever saw," said the Rev. Dr. Joseph Fort Newton, American preacher, at a London luncheon where he was guest of honor, to an American woman who sat by him. And she proceeded to tell his British hosts what he had said.

"I was horrified," Dr. Newton said in relating the occurrence to the St. Louis branch of the English Speaking Union, at its luncheon at Hotel Statler yesterday. "My words had been meant for her ears alone. My countryman had betrayed me. I felt that, in King's words, I had learned about women from her."

"And then," he continued, "I found that my remark, so tremendously repeated, had pleased my hosts. I had complimented them. For, as I soon discovered, in England the word 'homely' means homely, clumsy, companionable. So I was saved for the moment. But I was by no means at ease, for I had gone there to preach to Englishmen, and I did not know what I might next say. In a place where the same words have such different meanings."

"The word 'law' has a different meaning there, too," Dr. Newton said. It means Law, that works simply and with deadly regularity. The word 'Liberty' too, has a different meaning. There is more liberty of thought and speech in England. Here, we are afraid of one another, and walk in lockstep, in a regimentation of thought. When I think of the old revolutionary motto of 'Liberty, Equality, Fraternity' I think of England as standing for Liberty, America for Equality, and I hope by the grace of God we may both learn the meaning of Fraternity."

Dr. Newton, formerly assistant pastor of a St. Louis nonsectarian church, now a minister of the Episcopal church in Philadelphia, gave other incidents of his wartime pastorate at City Temple, London. "Both Americans and Britons have a strong sense of humor," he said. "But their humor itself is so difficult that each takes the other's intended joke as insults. Our humor is an exaggeration, like Mark Twain's description of the soup that was as thin as if it were made from the shadow of a pigeon that had starved to death. The British are apt to take such remarks literally, and don't see the fun of them. Their humor is a form of grave understatement. When I told my jokes, the laugh came politely, but seldom at the right place. When I listened, I laughed gently all the time, so as to be sure not to time my mirth wrongly."

Dr. Newton said the Americans who were targets for his jokes in Paris, because of their jests on the degradation of the frame, "would have had belicks thrown at them at home, if they had done anything so offensive here. We need not only better international manners, but better manners," he said.

Dr. Newton will preach tonight and tomorrow night in St. Peter's Episcopal church, Lindell boulevard and Spring avenue, in continuation of the Bishop's crusade. He has attracted large congregations in his addresses at St. Peter's, which began Sunday.

HITS 2 AUTOS IN 10 MINUTES Manufacturers' Train Figures in Pair of Accidents

Two automobiles were wrecked by the same train of the Manufacturers' Railroad at different crossings in South St. Louis within 10 minutes early today. No one was hurt.

At Second and Utah streets, at 12:05 a. m., the train hit a roadster driven by Antonio Frederick of 2725 Arsenal street. Frederick and his companion, George Skeck, 2761 South Spring avenue, were thrown out, uninjured. Ten minutes later, at Broadway and Potomac street, the train backed into the automobile of Harry Haverstick, 24 years old, of 608 South street. Haverstick, who was unharmed, was arrested.

Do You Like Good Coffee?

Coffee can't build skyscrapers but a good man can. And many a good man could do more in the morning if the day began with real good coffee—tasteful, hot, inspiring. And our friends, if they are newly met— isn't our opinion of them often formed when they serve us an inspired concoction masquerading as coffee?

Coffee can be good—regularly good if an electric percolator does the brewing—for in the electric percolator the coffee really makes itself and, as often as served, is uniformly delicious. With skyscrapers and friends reflected in a cup of coffee—and that's human, let's by all means serve it as good as it is possible to make it.

PURCHASE OF CONTROL FORD'S MASTER STROKE

H. M. Jewett Quotes Auto Maker in $30,000,000 Income Tax Suit.

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 20.—Henry Ford considered the master stroke of his career when he bought out minority stockholders of the Ford Motor Co. in 1919, according to testimony given yesterday by Harry M. Jewett, former president of the Ford-Detroit Motor Co. This evidence was struck out by the Board of Tax Appeals hearing the appeal of nine former minority stockholders against the attempt of the Government to collect $30,000,000 additional income tax against them. Jewett was allowed to testify only that he accounted the stock worth $12,000 a share in 1913 instead of $3,047.84 as the Government now contends.

ARBITRATION WITH MEXICO DIFFICULT

U. S. Government Prefers Settlement of Oil Dispute Through Claims Commission.

By DAVID LAWRENCE, A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. (Copyright, 1927.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Arbitration of the dispute between the United States and Mexico is more easily advocated than accomplished.

Mexico has said it would like to arbitrate and Secretary of State Kellogg reveals that he has been thinking of the same thing for some time, but the chances for an arbitration of the controversy are about as remote as American entry into the League of Nations.

When the terms of a protocol of arbitration are submitted for a two-thirds vote of the Senate, the precedent would be established of the United States being willing to admit that the constitution of a sovereign country is a subject for arbitration. President Calles of Mexico has indicated that such a sacrifice of sovereignty would be made by Mexico except in an extreme case. He has indicated that he would be willing to arbitrate the effects of a law passed by the Mexican Congress in accordance with its constitution. This, however, is already taken care of in the general claims convention between the United States and Mexico, and that is just where the dispute will be settled, if at all.

General Claims Convention. The principle of arbitration is contained in the general claims convention, for it binds the Mexican Government to accept the award of the commission without further appeal. It is as strongly drawn as any arbitration treaty. The dispute between the United States and Mexico is a subject for arbitration between an individual or corporation and the Mexican Government instead of between the American and Mexican Governments.

So the procedure is for each claimant to submit cases of confiscation to the commission for final settlement. Should Mexico refuse to accept the award the case would revert to diplomacy and settlement by other means.

The alternative course to the claims convention is the issuance of injunctions by the Mexican Federal courts restraining the American Government from confiscating American oil lands. A series of decisions two years ago by the Mexican Supreme Court failed to clear up the points at issue, but a new series of cases have been instituted at Tampico in which the foreign oil companies have won the first round.

Court Decision Preferred. If the dispute can be adjusted through decisions of the Mexican Supreme Court, the American Government would prefer it to settlement through the claims commission because the latter plan would leave the controversy open as between European nations and the Mexican Government.

Decision of the courts would apply equally to all foreign oil companies, and if favorable to them, would prevent pressure being applied to the American Government by European nations.

Doubt as to the decision of the courts in Mexico prevails, however, because there is no question of Mexico's right to law cases in accordance with her constitution. The problem is one of international equity rather than the exercise of constitutional right, and the word "equity" is used in the general claims convention as one of the bases of settlement irrespective of international or domestic law.

Henry Ford Discusses Women and Subjects of Interest to Them

Motor Manufacturer Says Drudgery Must Be Taken Out of Housekeeping to Set Women Free to Develop.

By THEODORE GLOTTIE, Author of "Powdered Ashes," "An Immigrant in Japan," etc.
South St. Bury, Mass., Jan. 25.—The old-fashioned mother is out of date, Henry Ford told me. "No one wants to bring her back. We don't want to bring back things that are out of date. We can preserve the charm of the old life without its inconveniences."

We were in the "map room" of the old Wayside Inn, built in 1818. Mr. Ford had come to meet me, with his springy step that is in such striking contrast to his stooped shoulders, gray hair and deep-lined face. He had just come from the old kitchen of the inn, in which he has spared no pains nor expense to gather a complete collection of old-time utensils and furniture.

"Set Women Free," I remarked that among these old colonial chairs, kettles and spinning wheels, I missed the figure of the old-fashioned mother, the virtuous prisoner in those old kitchens, around whom the life of the household had revolved. Then Mr. Ford made his statement.

"We must take the drudgery out of housekeeping to set women free to develop," Mr. Ford went on. "The first step is to do away with domesticated animals. We must stop feeding fowls and grain to animals to be made into nourishment for us, find some way of producing the proper nourishment for the human being more directly, more scientifically."

"Beef, mutton, poultry, fish, are all labor-making forms of food. They are difficult to prepare and the process of cooking them takes too long a time."

"Cows, sheep, chickens must go, viewed as food for people."

"Food from Laboratory," I remarked that among these old colonial chairs, kettles and spinning wheels, I missed the figure of the old-fashioned mother, the virtuous prisoner in those old kitchens, around whom the life of the household had revolved. Then Mr. Ford made his statement.

"We can make more efficiently and more scientifically, by formula. In our laboratory at Dearborn we have done something on that line already and are studying it constantly. However, it has not yet reached the state where it can be marketed effectively, nor are people ready for it yet."

"In diet, a great deal depends on what you are used to. Arctic exploration has taught us a lot about what a man can live on. The way of rationing scientifically compounded and economically compressed. Men like Vilhjalmur Stefansson have shown by experience, in their long trips, that what counts is what a man gets used to."

"But you have to have the right formula to attain the right results. Now take the Eskimos. They are able to live largely on blubber, but they don't seem to produce much in the way of civilization on that diet."

"You have to remember that you can only get out of a machine what you feed into it. You must give it the right materials to get desired results."

"Getting food from domesticated animals is a highly expensive way of producing energy."

"Has Planned Diet," I tried to imagine how it would taste to make a dinner out of a "compressed chemical compound" instead of a juicy steak. Then I asked Mr. Ford how he regulated his own diet. He is very spare in build, but wiry and seemingly full of energy.

"Oh, I have to have a diet planned out. I must have a balanced ration," he admitted. "It doesn't do to trust to our natural appetites on that sort of thing. Why, I have seen people who were so fond of sugar that they would be willing to live on it for a while. There's a lot of energy in sugar, but it is a special kind of energy, too expensive to feed the body that way. We must use science in planning it out."

"I believe the young people of today are better than they ever have been because they have been given freedom and have learned to stand on their own feet." Ford made this statement with a strong emphasis, although his ordinary conversational tone is so low and quiet it is difficult to follow him. It was his way of answering the question of whether the automobile in turning young folks loose, away from parental control, has contributed to license and immorality. Henry Ford does not think so.

"Better than ever before," he insisted, "You know, if you cage up a lion for a long while, and then suddenly release him, it is pretty hard to answer for what he will do. He will probably be pretty wild because he is not accustomed to liberty. But if you were to let him run loose, and settle into the feeling of freedom, he would get into certain ways of acting and you could have confidence in what to expect of his habits."

Modern Music, "Jazz" he repeated the word in answer to a question. "Jazz is music with the tune taken out."

"I like some tune in the music to which I dance, but when they commercialized dancing and jazz they took all the tune out of it. I had watched, a little earlier, Mr. and Mrs. Ford in the old ballroom of the old 'Red Horse Tavern,' immortalized by the poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. They were taking a lesson in the intricate maneuvers of the dancers, to the strains of an orchestra of four players, all workmen in the Ford factories, which they had brought with them from Detroit."

I asked if he looked for the revival of old-fashioned dancing to make people take more of their recreation in their own homes.

"No," said Mr. Ford, "frankly. You can't expect the young people to do much with music or dancing in the homes. Recreation is really more of a community affair. Get a crowd together and they have more fun."

Mr. and Mrs. Ford had come from Michigan to Sudbury this week especially to be present at the opening of the Little Red School House to which Mary and her little lamb went. Fourteen children from the families in the neighborhood are studying there.

Mr. Ford has sixteen hundred children in one school at Dearborn, went on Mr. Ford, "and they all get instruction in practical art and manual training."

Training Children, "No, I do not advocate psychological tests to pick out what job a child should be trained for. Let them study and try things and they will soon sort themselves out to the jobs they like and can do well. We get the timber for executives in our personnel by that natural process. A man soon shows what work he likes, is promoted, makes good."

"We give the children plenty of chance to see the way things were done in the old times, and to show them the fundamental processes. They can think out improvements. You have to let people think things out for themselves."

"We have the old mill on this property, now restored and running, so that the children can follow the production of bread, for instance, from the growing of the grain on the farm through the grinding and milling, and so forth."

"As a matter of fact, we have five village industrial plants here at Sudbury already. One, for instance, has to do with the weaving of cloth. The children, as they graduate from the school, will have the opportunity of going into what they can choose because they will have had practical experience of the various sorts to judge by."

THE pointer for today is: A No Trump Declarer, after holding up control of the adverse suit until the third round, should try to keep the danger hand on the lead.

The two adverse hands frequently are spoken of as the danger hand and the non-danger hand, respectively. When these designations are employed, it means that a lead from one adverse hand would be very dangerous—probably fatal—to the aims of the Declarer, whereas, if the other adverse hand should obtain the lead, no serious damage would ensue. Such cases frequently confront the Declarer.

A danger and non-danger situation exists when Declarer has a suit which is vulnerable if led through, but not if led up to. There is no case, however, in which one hand is so dangerous and the other so safe as when a long adverse suit is established in one adverse hand with no cards of it in the other.

For example, the following cards were given yesterday and the question was: how should Declarer plan to play his combined hands?

The Beauty Shop

By Frances Oliver

SHE wore the uncertain look of a woman sent out by her husband to buy neckties for him. A strange figure she cut in the alien, perfumed place where women come to buy beauty.

Visitor to beauty specialist: I don't suppose you've ever heard the kind of request that I am going to make of you. I am here to see you about my own beauty—it's my husband's looks that concern me at the moment. You see, he is the "thinny" sort; his nose shines, his cheeks shine, his forehead bears a perpetual gleam, and even his head shines. What can I do with him to make him look like you, an Ekimoor?

Oh, I almost neglected to tell you that he considers the use of powder, even ordinary talcum, a low and unmanly practice. Beauty Specialist: I take it that your husband "has arrived," as they say—that he has achieved great success in life.

Visitor: He is eminently successful, yes. But what makes you ask? Beauty Specialist: I gathered as much from his abhorrence of powder. The young, struggling men of today are beginning to regard their complexion almost as seriously as their training and their ability. Appearance with them used to be solely a matter of clothing. THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

H E succeeded, I claim, although many would say that his whole way of life was a very dramatic way, with no shouts of applause from a worshipping crowd, with no talk of a hero to make the raptures of fame and the joys that can come from a world-honored name, it was never his lot to reap harvests of gold, to know wealth without limit and power untried. He succeeded, I claim, although some might contend that his life was a failure, beginning to end, since it lacked bright adornments the world prizes most and since riches and glory he never could boast. But I hold that his ways were the ways of success, for he went on serenely through tumult and stress, he was honest and loyal, true friend to a friend, and un-weary, unfeared he fought to the end.
